Our Vision

A healthy and sustainable planet where we, future generations, and all living beings live in harmony in nature. To become a sustainable society we must eliminate our contributions to...

- the systematic increase of concentrations of substances extracted from the Earth's crust (for example, heavy metals and fossil fuels)
- the systematic increase of concentrations of substances produced by society (for example, plastics, dioxins, PCBs and DDT)
- the systematic physical degradation of nature and natural processes (for example, over harvesting forests, destroying habitat and overfishing)
- conditions that systematically undermine people's capacity to meet their basic human needs (for example, unsafe working conditions and not enough pay to live on)

Our Strategy

End Ecocide on Earth is a global grassroots movement aimed at protecting ecosystems on which all life on earth – including human - depends. And you're a part of it!

The main idea is intriguingly simple: the destruction of ecosystems must become a crime. A crime for which those in positions of superior responsibility can be held criminally accountable for. This crime has a name: Ecocide.

The ultimate goal of the initiative is that ecocide will be recognised as a crime around the world. This means not only national ecocide crimes in all states but also the recognition that ecocide is an international crime which can be enforced with an international court. To that end, ecocide should be incorporated into the Rome Statute as international Crime against Peace under the jurisdiction of the International Criminal Court. This can be achieved via an amendment of the Rome Statute, which the Head of any State party can propose.

It is in our collective power to make this change happen, now. This is the radical change we need, and we are building a global movement to make this a reality.
